They were, however, apparently estished to give it up as a bad job. After tampering with the leok, which they found impossible to pick, their efforts were directed against the burglar-proof box compartment, which they doubtless knew contained money and valuables. A piece of iron about as large as my hand was first cut out from one side of the safe; drills were then about as large and from one side of the safe; drills were then sent in against the burglar box, evidently to test the question whether or not the box could be drilled and powder injected. Their drills failed to make any impression whatever apon the steel box, and these worthles were the artistic manner in which these rancels attacked my safe. I am satisfied that they were ofessional gracksinen who understand their

SIMMOND'S NABOB WHISKEY Consumers are referred to the following ex-ract from the report of an eminent Public

Analyst:

This is a pure barley and wheat spirit, remarkable in fragrant ethers, which impare a delicate aroma, at the same time greatly increasing its value as a diffusive atimulant. The solid residue contains a large amount of tannin, derived from storing in oak casks, which imparts to fine old "bisky one of its valuable individual qualities. The amount of the residue proves the whisky to be free from the excessive coloring and sweetening so generally used in adulterating. In fact, in two words, it is the PUREST WHISKY, and will not only supply a poblic want, now that whiskies are so generally adulteraged, but will be of the greatest value to the physician in those numerous cases where pure whiskies are the most useful of all medicine.

W. P. EDWARDS,

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

A walk along any street in Reno this morning will show, better than any newspaper can, the spirit of our business men. Nearly every lot has some kind of a shanty stuck up in which to carry on trade. Often the whole stock is contained in a band box or on one shelf, but it is the remaine of a fine display and the seeds of a big storefull to come. Nearly all our merchants have sent man or telegraphed for new goods and are busily engaged in preparing s place to receive them. There is no cause for despair while the spirit of enterprise remains. When men give up and quit struggling, then only is hope delusive. The affliction which has fallen upon us and overcome us like a summer cloud may in the end prove a blessing to the town. Some will be years in recovering their losses but they will meet with kind forbearance in their business connect ions and the spirit of gratitude and almost brotherly companionship which will exist among the fellow sufferers will give the town much greater strength as a whole than it ever had before. Let everybody help his neighbor all be can and at the same time keep his own courage up and all will be well. We have our trade, our fine location and our big rich farms left and we still have our good right arms with which to hew our way through all our difficulties. Our town is young and full of life instead of being on the downward grade. It will support a large business and there is no fear but that our merchants can get all the goods they can sell. They must have buildings to keep their stores in and houses to live in and if they haven't the money to build them they can easily get it upon a fair showing. The insurance companies will relieve the sufferers and reduce the figures very much. Even though all the old debts should be wiped off the slate there is nothing to hurt our credit with outside parties. The wholesale dealers are as anxious to sell as if they were getting new customers and will be very lesient with all who have heretefore manifested a desire to be prompt. In the meantime all who get hold of money should keep it moving. A five-dollar piece can be made to pay hundreds of dellary worth of debts if it goes quickly, and there is no excuse for a man carying one in his pocket while he is in debt to his neighbor. Let us all stand in together, as the ungodly say, we will have good times again. THE MEN WITH THE MACHINE.

Most of them have thing. If there is not protection burnt faces and sore hands from in the courts from bummers and loafworking right on the edge of the fire ers, there is a law which stands refor hours. They stirred out the corded everywhere in nature, which is sleepers and carried what was movable to places of safety as they is necessary to protect our homes and thought, though in most cases the fire property from vandalism and ruffianfollowed almost as fast as they went.

A good many small accidents happened but fortunately none of them lost their limbs or broke their bones. Hank Rhodes, the foreman, was burned and banged up considerably. One eye was closed for repairs until yesterday. J. L. McFarlin was hit in the side and suffered considerably all night but is better to-day. Merris Ash, Cap, Flannigan, W. F. Edwards and others have very sore eyes. B. F. Bacon, an honorary member, held a nozzle right in the blaze for hours, getting well wet and catching a twenty-dollar cold. Probably none of us will remember the big fire longer than the fire boys.

A CRURE AND THOUTGHEES CHARGE.

The Rene fire department turned out in full force within seven minutes of the first alarm, and had the hand engine throwing water not five minutes later. The steamer got a stream onto Morris 'Ash's salson within nine minutes of the alarm. The company consists of thirty-five regular although they have by no means members, not one of whom was memopolized the benefits. The whole under the influence of liquor at the time during the day. Hank Rhodes, the foreman, went blind from heat and smoke about eight o'clock in the morning and went home. Herman Thres was then in full charge and, with Lisle Jamison as assistant, had had neither breakfast nor lunch. Mrs. McNeely carried around coffee to the beys, which tasted in their poor parched throats, like divine neco'clock and get a bite after which he returned. Nick Hammersmith was on hand and got the hair on his face badty singed at 'he Granger store. Not one in ten of the crowds who worked so hard all day got a meal. The engine pumped the cistern in front of the GAZETTE office dry three times, when it gave out and the hose was run to the ditches. To say as the Virginia Chronicle does that: "When Commercial Row, from Sierra to Virginia street, became a mass of flames the firemen became utterly demoralized. Dozens of men were rushing from place to place, giving contradictory orders, and the Chronicle reporter saw men with firemen's hats on, drunk as early as 7 o'clock. It is claimed. however, that men not connected with the department got firemen's hats and were them. Such may have been the case." is a cruel and base slander. There is no truth in this report. The men were burned and wet, tired and hungry, nervous and blinded, but they were not drunk, not one of them. Men in that cendition might stagger, they might lie down, they might talk incoherently and still not be drunk. The Chronicle correspondent may have seen one or two men under the influence of liquor later in the day, but no one was drunk in the morning, that we can hear of. There may have been conflicting orders and some confusion, but not more than is usual in such not adopted by the Pacific states. The cases. A TRUE PROPHET

[S. F. Exchange.] The Reno, Nevada GAZETTE fo many weeks recently endeavered to arouse the people of Reno to a sense of their danger from fire. Every day it had editorials warning them that the department and the water supply would net be able to cope with any fire that should start with a high wind to fan it. Yesterday's event showed how necessary the warning was, and how completely it was ignored, as such warnings usually are.

Ex-President of France, Marshal McMahon is going to make a tour of "Git ye gene, John; git ye gone, McMahon is going to make a tour of ohn. But John wouldn't git ye the centinent. We will see if he "is a biger man than old Grant."

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The people of the rich and prosperindulge themselves in an agricultural and mechanical society, but there is no reason in the world why the town of Reno should provide them with one as she has heretofore. Almost the entire burden has hitherto fallen upon Washee, Storey and Ormsby counties, state has felt the good effects of the institution, and, as the GAZETTE said yesterday, the whole state ought to support it. The future of the society must be very uncertain if it has no new source upon which to draw. Our delegation at Carson should instantly fought the fire with the bravery of put forth every exertion to have the Spartans. Lisle Jamison went home at 2 We have been told that the society would relinquish all claim to their very valuable property if the state would pay a small debt which rests over it, and accept the responsibility of future operations. There will be no loss involved as it is self-sustaining were it not for the debts.

THE MILK OF HUMAN KINDNESS. The house and senate seized upon the bill introduced yesterday apprepriating $10,000 to aid the destitute in Reno as if it was just the thing they were waiting for. It went to the governor and was a law inside of twenty minutes after the first reading. Members forgot their prejudice and the little political they have so often had with Washoe county and made a grand donation to our hungry, naked citizens. We are unable in words to thank our generous government for their timely action. Reno has always been early in the field of philanthropy when her help was needed, and now accepts with a grateful heart the aid so generously extended.

Her benefactors will live in her memory as long as her foundations

Savage and Gillen, two boys, neither of whom appears to be over seventeen years of age, are suffering the penalty of being caught in bad company. They were terribly frightened, and one of them broke out sobbing in the court room. They said they lived with their parents in Virginia, and came down here in search of work. They plead not guilty, and the court appointed Reger Johnson to defend appointed Reger Johnson to defend them. The case was postponed until

The charge of assault and battery against B. M. Randolph was dismissed.

There was never a more heroic devotion to duty than that displayed by Al. Lyman who had charge of the 48 last Sunday. While the fire was spreading in the direction of his house were alone, he stood at his pest working the pumps as carefully as if he had so other care. With tears in his eyes he told a man near by that he didn't know but his house was burning and his loved ones in it, but he could not leave to attend to them. He stood in the very fire itself near to Judge. Marshall's building until his cab be-gan to burn and he was forced to give up the fight. Such an act stamps the man a hero and his name should go the rounds. True to the spirit of poetic justice his house was spared though all its neighbors went.

Fire Alarm.

About 2 o'clock this morning an alarm was sounded and the hand engine called out. No new fire had broken out, and the alarm was on'y sounded as a preventative. The wind had risen and the sparks had begun to fly from the burnt district at an alarming rate. The hand engine and about fifteen firemen were kept en duty until daylight this merning preventing any new outbreak of the fire. The firemen of Reno certainly deserve great credit for the gallantry and tire ess activity they have shown during and since the fire.

Relief Committee,

The relief committee held a meeting last night, at which James H. Kinkead was appointed to confer with the Central Pacific R. R. authorities in regard to getting tickets for destitute families to leave town on.
Messrs. Drahms, Kinkead and Mar-

A GAZETTE reporter has spending the day in inspecting the safes rescued from the ruins and in The result of this investigation proves manufactured in Cincinnati, O., is the most reliable safe represented. There were safes from half a dozen different manufactories in the fire and their contents were in all stages between a scorch and utter ruin. Some had to be blown open, others cut to pieces with chisels; some were a mass of broken plaster and warped plates. Others seemed sound on the outside while within there was nothing saved. Some lost knobs, others had the bination completely upset. In every case the Hall's safe apened without a hammer or chisel and the contents were whelly untouched. County treasurer's safe (Hall's) lay in a mass of combustibles upon w mass of combustions upon which a stream of burning oil was running for eighteen hours, and as some of it coeled off Mr. Boyd opened it with-out the least hesitation and the contents were as good as new. The Right Kind of Democrats.

J. C. Hagerman and Jerry Schooling saved their store by fighting it in the cellar where it came blazing in through the ventilators. Mr. Schooling stood stuffing in empty sacks and as fast as they burned out filling in more. They have reduced their prices and are dealing out the necessaries with free hands. Such noble acts at such times as this are worthy of philanthropists.

All as it Should Be.

Mr. Jenvey has everything in perfect order at the pavilion. An invoice of all articles coming in is taken and everything charged ont just as if they were to be paid for. About seventy-five families are being supplied. Quite a number of frauds have applied and been refused, Mr. Jenvey promises to give the GAZETTE a list of them soon.

Clear Grit.

R. E. Queen has put himself squarely to the front as one of the mest enterprising business men in Rene. The fire was still burning when he sought out the GAZETTE office to inform the readers he was ready to dispense the drug and pill, the stealthy oil and nasty emetic. Long live the Queen.
